RECOGNITION & AWARDS PROGRAM

The Award:

Organized by the Energy and Environment Foundation, the Global Financial Sustainability Award 2026 honors individuals, teams, and organizations for outstanding contributions to advancing financial responsibility, transparency, and inclusive economic development. The award recognizes innovation, leadership, and impactful actions that foster sustainable financial practices, value creation, and resilient economic systems for a more equitable and secure future.

Awarded initiatives may include efforts in:

- Financial governance and regulatory compliance
- Transparent and inclusive economic growth
- Youth financial literacy and empowerment
- Innovation in financial technology and systems
- Responsible investment and financial risk management

The Global Financial Sustainability Award celebrates achievements across diverse sectors—banking, corporate finance, fintech, education, public policy, and more—that contribute meaningfully to building a financially resilient and sustainable global economy.

Objectives:

- Promote transparency, accountability, and ethics in global financial systems.
- Encourage innovation in sustainable finance and responsible investment practices worldwide.
- Recognize excellence in financial education, literacy, and youth empowerment.
- Support inclusive growth through equitable and transparent financial leadership models.
- Foster best practices in financial compliance, risk, and governance strategies.

Eligibility:

- Large-scale financial initiatives and institutions (Banks, Insurance, NBFCs, FinTechs, Regulatory Bodies, Investment Firms, Financial Infrastructures, etc.)
- Public Sector Undertakings (PSUs) actively advancing financial sustainability are eligible.
- Government bodies, public-private partnerships (PPP), financial institutions, and economic development agencies.
- Organizations demonstrating excellence in financial governance, innovation, transparency, inclusion, and sustainable economic impact.
